Introduction

I've lost count of the women I've been with. I don't know how people can keep track of their girlfriends at a specific number of 55 or 172. I can only imagine that there is a part inside these men that they are keeping track so as to one day show it to others or themselves as a form of validation.

I'm surrounded by close male friends who had seriously considered marriage with every woman they have been with, or friends who are already married. It seems like they are looking for a woman to marry rather than marrying the woman they want.

Don't get me wrong. I have nothing against marriages. But I'd rather having a good look at a catalogue before choosing which couch to buy, than to immediately buy the couch that appears on the first page. I'd like to sit on it, feel it's texture and find how it looks in different colors before making my purchase.

I've been thinking about writing this book for a while now. It conceptualized through my development from a frustrated guy who couldn't move forward with an already interested girl, to a man who... as I've mentioned... has stopped counting the women I've been with.

A professional exotic dancer I've slept with joked with me about writing a book to help men in dating and she would write one for women. But at that time it was only a joke. I didn't think that my skills would be transferable through a book. I also wondered at that time that if I were to write a book for men's dating, where would the motivation to do it come from.

Well motivations can come and go without any warnings. But when it hits, it will really grab you by the throat to finish what you started.

So I was going about my social life, and constantly seeing how my male friends are getting badly treated by their girlfriends finally gave me a drive to write this book. I find that those friends suffer from a self-perceived lack of options and therefore allow their women to treat them that way. I want the information here to help your dating life. I have followed them and my success with women has increased exponentially.

None of this is fairy tale. I have practiced them, and it works.

A Little Intelligence

In the last 6 months, I've realized that my lay rate was bursting off the chart. During times where I was in absolute top form, I was dating 6 girls a week. At least 4 would want to sleep with me. Whether I want to sleep with them is another matter. And those that I ended up sleeping with would be fine with maintaining a purely sexual relationship.

Women approached me with the lamest reason you can think of.

I realized that with every approach to a woman I fancy, I go with an unwavering belief that she will give me a blow job at the minimum as long as I play my cards right. The confidence comes from knowing that I hold all the Aces in a game of poker.

Before a general enters a battle, he has to gather intelligence to organize a winning strategy. Before a football game is played the coaches would gather intelligence to plan how to win.

So before I get to the nuts and bolts of how to get that woman you have been eyeing for the past week, I'd like to give you some intelligence. These are crucial in that they will directly influence how you go about every little thing while you are implementing my advice.

These are some of the intelligence.

Realize that there is plenty of women around. Even hot ones. Hot women are the most insecure about their looks because they compare their good looks with other women and there will always be more hot women for them to compare with.

Hot women who has a stable self-sufficient career are the least likely to hold back sex with men they fancy. This is because they know that their value is much more than just a pussy.

Women love sex. In fact, the one thing that fulfills them as women is to have sex with a man that they have a primal attraction for.

Putting these into perspective, don't allow yourself to feel bad if you are rejected by women. There are many more around. For every great woman that you meet, there are probably 5 better women just loitering in the vicinity. This abundance belief alone is crucial to successfully score with that one girl that you want.

The biggest mistake single men make is that they believe that there is a secret technique or pick up line that will do all the work for them. They may even have witnessed it happen for other men who are successful with women. What they fail to see is that there is a very deep embedded foundation for a man to be able to execute those techniques successfully. And those foundations are strong beliefs.

So don't be intimidated by women. Many times women will reveal that they are just little girls when you are able to make them comfortable enough to remove their social masks.

What Do Women Want?

Women are open to many kind of relationships. The 2 that will interest you will be 1 of a sexual relationship, and another of a serious relationship. You have to get a feel of what she is looking for with you so as to play your cards right.

Most men attempt to display their value as a boyfriend to women. They want women to see them as boyfriend material. However, their one motive to be a hot chick's boyfriend is to sleep with her.

Well here is a truth. You don't have to be a boyfriend to sleep with her. If all you want is sex, you can in fact get it with much less work by not being a boyfriend.

Let me give a brief explanation.

When you display boyfriend qualities to a woman and declares your intent of being her boyfriend, you trigger a part inside her to pull out her boyfriend checklist. And I bet you that that checklist will be very long and specific. There is no way anyone can meet all the criterias in the checklist. So it is very likely that you will fail.

This is why most couples get together through some sort of common circle. They met as friends and unknowingly fall for each other. The guy does not declares his interest early on as they are just friends. This prevents the woman from pulling out her boyfriend checklist from her stockings.

By the time the woman pulls out her checklist, it is already too late. She has fallen for him and had already made a huge investment in terms of her time and emotions.

However, if you argue that what you want is to be her boyfriend to love her for who she is and every little thing about her, here is a list of the main qualities a woman is looking for in a boyfriend.

- 1) Trust
- 2) Relation
- 3) Comfort
- 4) Well groomed
- 5) Decent mannerism
- 6) World class chivalry
- 7) Fetches her whenever you are expected to
- 8) Is alright with her holding back sex
- 9) Chemistry
- 10) Your life purpose is to make her happy
- 11) Patience
- 12) Rapport
- 13) Well liked by her friends
- 14) Ability to fix her iPhone when it has a bug
- 15) Does not look at other women

This is just the tip of the iceberg.

Initial Contact On A Commonality Pretense

I find that a big issue that men face with women is how to move forward with the woman they already know and want. So this book is focused on advancing on a woman who is already within you circle. It could be your office, class, friend's friend, work acquaintance, etc. If you only want sex, you can easily hire a hooker.

Everyone belongs to many kinds of circles. Even if you are in a classroom, there can be many circles that you belong to. There may be a circle that you do your projects with, a circle that you have lunch with, a circle that you gossip with, etc. As long as that woman you are eyeing belongs to any of your circles, you will have an easier entry for an opening conversation with a supposedly common “belonging”.

Women are very wary of being labeled as a slut. So if she were to get together with you, letting her friends know that you have picked her up cold can make her think that her friends may see her as being “easy”. So coming from an approach of a common circle eliminates her reluctance of telling her friends about you. Having met you from a common circle is perceived as coincidence and fate, rather than desperate to be picked up by a total stranger.

So look out for any circle that the woman you are eyeing belongs to. Then “join” that circle. Getting to know someone else within that circle is enough to seed a common circle. Let her notice you belonging to that circle.

If there is a woman you are eyeing within your circle, and you have yet to make contact with her because you are shy, start with casual comments. When you walk past her, make a casual remark about her shoes, hair, workload, something about your circle, etc. Then move on without waiting for a reply. After you do this twice, she will be open to have a casual chat with you.

Making that first interaction happen is very easy when you both belong in the same circle.

Then find an opportunity to talk to her for a minute or 2. That’s all you need to get her number.

What do you talk about?

Planning a flowing conversation is overrated. You don't have to have 10 topics up your sleeves to throw at her. What you must do is not to feel that you have to continue talking away just to avoid that awkward silence. You may in fact find that the conversation will flow more naturally when you don’t plan your topics. When there is an awkward silence, don’t feel pressured to break the ice.

Be relaxed and let the tension build. Let her feel the pressure instead of taking the pressure off her by saying something just to break the tension.

Unless you are married, talking less is always better than more before you bed her. It is because any information you reveal can potentially screw up your chances.

If you insist on having a planned conversation, keep topics light and not serious. Try gossips and metaphysics. Women eat them up like ice-cream.

Ask for her number by saying “Hey I got to go. I like where this conversation is going, let’s talk some time.” Whip out your phone as if you are keying in her number in your contacts book. She will give it to you since the both of you belong in the same circle.

If she resist giving you her number, it okay. Don’t make a big deal about it. Get her in another short conversation another time and go for her number again.

When you get her number, I find it very important to send her a message later in the day to seed your interest. Be casual and say something like “Please try not to look at me like a banana if we are to hang out for coffee :P Thanks”. Use smileys.

First date

Unless you are gross as a pig in appearance, women will entertain a short first date on pretense to talk about “work” to find out what you are all about. So ask her out by saying you want her help for something related to your circle.

I want to talk a little about appearance. Because a clean image can only score points for you. And since a lot about appearance is under our control, you might want to make an effort to garner those appearance points.

Most men think that the game is over if they do not have the good looks of a movie star. That is not true. Of course good looks will help. But it is not essential. As long as you can be perceived as having good grooming, you can pass the scale on looks.

Keep these things in check on your appearance.

- 1) Manage your hair
- 2) Manage your facial hair if you keep them
- 3) Trim you fingernails
- 4) Always dress appropriate for the occasion
- 5) Press your shirts and pants if you wear them
- 6) Cool shoes

Women can tell when you make an effort to groom yourself. Not only does it mean something to their preference, it also matters to them that their friends may one day see you and they don't want their friends to think that you are a slob.

Be physical from the start. I cannot stress enough how big a difference being physical from the start can make. I've tried this on multiple women, and I found that being physical from the start annihilates resistance when you are at the final stages of the seduction just before actual sex.

Most men spend most of their time trying to convince women that they are not after sex. This is suicidal behavior.

Let her know of your intentions as a man. Women respond to sexual men. Trust me on this one. Anyway, most women have already decided in their minds that men only wants sex from them. So it doesn't hurt you at all by admitting that you are a sexual being. Denying it will hurt you.

Being physical from first date can set the frame for your whole seduction all the way to the bedroom.

Make it easy for her to be physical with you. Take her to a cafe with sofa seats where the 2 of you can seat side by side. Tell her that you arm hurts from playing tennis the day before then ask her to give you a light hand rub. Ask to look at her hands pretending to look at her "life line". Feel her arms by saying that she has smooth skin. Pat her head when she does something nice.

If she plays along. Reciprocate.

Ideally you can have a legitimate excuse to take her to your place. If not, make up a fancy reason for her to go up to your place. If she is fine with it, great. If not, repeat your physical escalation exercise on another date and ask her again to go to your place. Drop her if she resist a second time. The furthest I would go is a third date. It's not worth your time unless you want to get into a real relationship with her.

She is not ready.

Here are examples of fancy excuses I've used to get women up to my place.

"I really have an aching shoulder. Come back with me. I need you to give me a massage"

"I've just borrowed a nice DVD from a friend. Come back and watch with me"

"I'm getting sleepy. Let's go back to my place. I need to take a nap."

"I read a book that totally describes our horoscope compatibility. Come back to my place and I'll show you"

Women will not resist you if she is into you even by just a little bit. When women do resist going to your place, you have to feel it out whether she really doesn't want to or because she wants to see you REALLY want it.

So when she says "I don't think it's a good idea", reply with "Hey don't worry about it, it's going to be okay... as long as you keep your hands to yourself". In this case, you make her the aggressor and she would feel that she has the final say whether something happens or not.

If she resist again, just say "Come one. Don't be a sissy". Let the silence sink in. then just lead her home.

If she still resist after your 2 counter attempts, leave her alone. Try it on her on another date or drop her from your priority list completely. No point wasting your time on women who are not passionate about you.

Sex Logistics

You have managed to get her to your place where both of you are alone. What do you do next?

I like to keep my place neat and tidy. I prefer that look enough to motivate myself to keep it that way. I know a woman's place can be a real mess. I've seen them myself. So if your place looks free of clutter and smells good, she will be comfortable making herself comfortable there.

A corporate highflyer of a woman I was dating came to my place for a movie I proposed to watch. I took her home and I went to the restroom. When I came out, she was already snuggling in my bed hugging my pillows comfortably tucked under my quilt.

I punished her.

I appreciated that she liked my place so much. That is what you should aim for regarding your place.

Here are some tips

- 1) Always keep clutter free
- 2) Have matching bed sheets and curtains
- 3) Do not use white florescent lighting. I prefer warm lights
- 4) 2 pillows and a quilt
- 5) Have a full body mirror
- 6) Always keep condoms easily accessible
- 7) Have a music player with sex music always ready to be played
- 8) Leave a couple of gossip magazines lying around so that you have something light to talk about

From Body Contact To Sex

It took me years to discover that leading a woman to have sex is actually pretty simple. The more I see what I do works, the better I get, and the better I get, it only becomes even easier. Success breed confidence. But you do have to take action for success.

I've met a number of men who has absolutely no idea how to get physical with women. They wonder how to get from no body contact to sex. I want you to think about it a little differently.

There is no such thing as going from no body contact to sex unless you are talking about a hooker.

Getting her physically comfortable to have sex with you is a process that has to escalate from light contact to full sex. That is why it will help your game a lot when you get her physically comfortable with you from the start. However getting physical from the start is not absolutely essential. I've gone from little to no body contact with a woman until the point when she is on my bed, to full sex.

I would keep this simple. Follow this escalation process when you have a woman in your bed and you will get laid.

- 1) Ask her to give you a hand massage. Say your hand aches from playing basketball the day before
- 2) Ask her to massage you arms, and biceps
- 3) Position yourself side by side with her. Then put your arms around her from behind. You are still side by side with her. Just slightly behind her.
- 4) Massage her hand in return. At this point both of you are mutually massaging each other
- 5) With your free hand, brush her anywhere of her body except directly on her breast or vagina. I prefer the back, shoulder, hair side ribs
- 6) Don't be surprised if at this point she brushes your body with her hands as well.
- 7) Start giving her light massages on her back and shoulders
- 8) I recommend at least a minimum of 5 minutes to reach this point
- 9) Test out how ready she is by brushing with your hands to her ribs below her breast and slightly touching them. If she doesn't resist, go higher until you are actually brushing her breast. NOT FONDLING OR GROPING. She is going to get turned on. Go back to just brushing non sexual areas if she resist.
- 10) In this "side by side and slightly behind her" position, kiss her shoulder and neck. She may give a groan of pleasure now. Kiss her on the cheeks. If she turns towards you, start French kissing her. Now you have permission to touch her breast.
- 11) Poke you knob at her. Then ask her to touch it. She will.
- 12) Go for her vagina. Touching lightly. NO GROPING. Look for her clit. Slowing work your way from touching her to fingering her.
- 13) Start undressing her. She may do it herself.

- 14) At this point she's your's for the taking unless you take more than 10 seconds to find a condom. That can potentially ruin everything. Just potentially. So keep your condoms strategically placed for easy retrieval.

Note that when a woman insist on "NO", please be a civilized man and stop. Go back to the previous step and try again.

Final Words

Most guys imagine that seducing a woman is a 2 step process.

- 1) Meet
- 2) Sex

Well it is not.

It is a multi step process. And if you do it right, you will get that girl you want. What I've written here works very well for me and I hope you will find success with women by applying them.

It takes preparation to set things right for your seduction.

3 key areas to address

- 1) Get your beliefs right
- 2) Set up circles and logistics to let sex happen easily
- 3) Make a move on her physically

You will be surprised to find out that many women out there are okay with a purely sexual relationship. Even the innocent looking ones.

Have fun.
